

Pegasus

A Pegasus Youth Theatre Production with Oxford University and the Paris Sorbonne ANR-AGON Workshop

In school, in the courtroom, and at war, Dream On... follows the journey from insult to trial; from vengeance to justice; from imagination to truth.

Ava and Kosha arrive in Oxford thinking their journey has finished but, haunted by the past, they find that the hardest part is still to come. Hattie has no-one to confide in except for Alama, but if she leaves like everyone else, who is left to talk to? Nobody believes Maria when she reveals the father of her new baby - least of all Yusuf himself, stationed in far off Afghanistan.

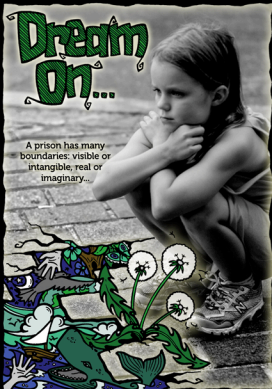

How do you find justice for crimes that it seems only you believe in, crimes now distant in time and space? What's true for one person is alien, unreal and nothing but a dream to the next... Whose reality will people believe?

Come and join the jury as a trial and its complex history is revealed.

Pegasus presents a new play featuring performers aged from 11 to 25 years, using drama, physical theatre, puppetry and film. A joint project between Pegasus, Oxford University and the ANR-AGON workshop based at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Dream On... explores the line between conflict and resolution.

www.pegasustheatre.org.uk

Dream On...

A prison has many boundaries: visible or intangible, real or imaginary...

Wednesday 22nd to Saturday 25th May 2013 7.30pm, Saturday matinee 1.30pm

Tickets: £7 full, £5 concessions, £4 U18s (Limited availability)

Click here for more information and to book tickets

